FLAGS RAISED

Safety Week Opens Here

Raising of special flags at two lumber manufacturing plants in the city this morning heralded the official start of the lumbering industry's safety week.

Representatives of labor and management, joint sponsors—along with the provincial government—of the safety campaign, were on hand for the flag-raising ceremonies.

The entire day shift of S. M. Simpson Ltd. was flocked around the flagpole at the 7:30 a.m. ceremony. At S and K Plywoods, the flag-raising ceremony took place at 8 a.m. with employees from both the "graveyard" shift and the day shift present.

Another similar ceremony will take place at Simpson's at 5:30 p.m. when the night shift goes to work.

Michigan, Many Other States Face Serious Money Trouble

NEW YORK (AP) — "I feel sorry for the next governor," said a veteran Iowa legislator as he considered his state's finances recently. "He'll be like Mother Hubbard when he takes a look in the cupboard, because it's really going to be bare."

B.C. BRIEFS

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) — Alderman Kenneth Martin Ratcliff, 41, died suddenly Saturday. He had lived in Kamloops several years after the war and moved his law office here in 1951.

VANCOUVER (CP) — John McLean, personnel services director at the University of British Columbia, says that although employment will be more plentiful for UBC graduates this year, more than 2,000 students are still without summer work. He said about 90 per cent of this year's graduating class have found employment.

NANAIMO (CP) — Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are scheduled to make a 25-minute stop here to see an Indian potlatch July 16. About 100 Indians will participate.

As is the case with many other states, notably Michigan, Iowa has fiscal troubles. Its treasury is solvent. But a $100,000,000 "rainy day fund" that was built up during the Second World War is down to $20,000,000. Living, like many another state, beyond its income, it has had to dip into this reserve.

An Associated Press survey of state financial problems indicates 10 of them deeply in debt or in imminent danger going into the red. And 16 have some measure of financial difficulties that could become awkward.

Many got into trouble by spending more money than they received, making up the difference by dipping into surplus monies and by borrowing. Others are recession victims: Last year's business decline cut their income below their outlays.

2,800 Negro Students Urge Law Avenge Attack On Girl

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Most of the 2,800 Negro students at Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University stayed away from their classes today as part of a "passive resistance" move designed to focus national attention on the rape of a Negro college girl by four white men.

Students leaders said the strike was part of a week-long protest movement to draw attention to the rape case "so that justice will be done."

Four men arrested shortly after the assault were formally charged with rape today by state attorney W. D. Hopkins. He said they will be held without bail pending referral of the case to the next grand jury which convenes June 1.

STILL GOING STRONG . . . Sir Winston Churchill, at 84, still active, is in the United States today to visit President Eisenhower. He flew from London Airport where he climbed into BOAC Comet jet alone. He told U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney he was feeling "very fine". (AP Wirephoto)

Ontario Election Called; Frost Backs Up Record

TORONTO (CP) — An Ontario election for Thursday, June 11, was called today by Premier Frost on his 10th anniversary in office.

The 63-year-old premier asked Lieutenant-Governor J. Keiller Mackay for dissolution of the legislature, then called in reporters to make the announcement.

"I am here to give an accounting," he said and issued a 31-page manifesto outlining government achievements since he was sworn in as premier May 4, 1949. "It is all part of a dynamic economics creed — more people, more industry, more jobs, more wages, more opportunities," said the premier.

Meanwhile, election writs were being issued for 98 new members of the legislature. Nomination day was set for Thursday, May 28.

At dissolution the premier's Progressive Conservative party held 83 of the 98 legislature seats, Liberals 11, and CCF three. There was one vacancy, a PC riding.

Vatican Beatifies Canadian Nun

VATICAN CITY (CP) — An 18th-century Quebec nun became the first native-born Canadian to attain beatification — highest honor next to sainthood — in a special Sunday service in St. Peter's Basilica.

Sister Marie Therese Marguerite d'Youville (1701 - 1771) was named blessed by a decree of Pope John XXIII 69 years after the cause of her beatification was presented to the Vatican.

More than 10,000 persons including 400 Canadians watched the beatification ceremony in the red-draped basilica, aglow with brilliant lights.

FAMED CANADIAN NEUROLOGIST DIES ON DUTY IN MONTREAL

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. William Cone, 62, one of the world's leading brain surgeons, died early today in his office at the Montreal Neurological Institute.

Institute officials in a statement said Dr. Cone was found dead in his office at 5 a.m. by the night watchman.

Civil Service Group Oppose 'Patronage'

OTTAWA (CP) — The head of the Civil Service Federation said today his group will oppose any return to "the spoils system" of political patronage in the federal civil service.

Fred Whitehouse, federation president, issued a press statement based on what he described as "recent charges in the press of political interference" in the civil service.

The statement referred to last week's controversial appointment of Alastair F. McArthur, former president of the Ontario Federation of Labor, as labor representative on the unemployment insurance commission. But Mr. Whitehouse took no sides in the issue, in which Canadian Labor Congress president Claude Jodoin has said political implications are involved. Mr. Whitehouse said merely that the appointment is a government responsibility "and if there are any political implications . . . the government must assume full responsibility."

He said the Civil Service Federation will keep "a watching brief" on a proposed study of the civil service commission by a Commons committee.

May Day Plans Taking Shape

RUTLAND — Plans for the Rutland May Day celebrations to be held May 17 - 18, were further advanced at a general meeting of the park society and the recreation commission last week.

Indications are that there will be a six-team, softball tournament, a baseball game (SOKM League) on the Monday afternoon and a big parade "Monday morning. Children's races will be held, and a midway operated.

There was some difference in views regarding having both a May queen, and a Rutland queen, who would also be the local candidate for the Lady of the Lake contest. The two subcommittees were instructed to get together to see if any conflict in plans could be avoided.

The board of trade, athletic and other organizations and schools are co-operating with the park society in this community celebration. Proceeds will be for park maintenance and improvement.

Hilda Sommerfeld Hurlled From Shoes, Hearing Told

A 22-year-old Kelowna man, Toi Wong, was committed for trial this morning on a charge of criminal negligence resulting in death.

He was charged following the death of five-year-old Hilda Sommerfeld, of 816 Wardlaw, who died in Vancouver General Hospital several days after she was allegedly struck on Richter Street by a car driven by Wong.

The commitment by Magistrate Donald White wound up one-and-a-half days of testimony including a statement by a companion of Wong's who said he and the accused had been drinking beer the afternoon of April 4, the day the accident occurred.

A witness this morning, David White, stated Wong's car had passed him prior to the accident. He estimated Wong's speed at "70 miles per hour."

Both Wong and his companion, 20-year-old Sylvester Horn, stated the car had been travelling "about 50 or 55 miles an hour" when the accident occurred.

HURLED FROM SHOES

A RCMP highway patrol officer who investigated the accident said skid marks at the scene stretched for 196 feet, and evidence indicated the girl had been hurled out of her shoes by the force of the blow.

The car is said to have turned completely around and landed in the ditch after the brakes had been applied.

Police magistrate Donald White told the preliminary hearing that the direction in which the car spun "seemed to be an important factor in the case."

Some witnesses testified they had seen the car spin in a clockwise direction, while another said the car had spun counter-clockwise. Const. John Urquhart of the highway patrol said his measurements showed the car to have turned in a clockwise direction when skidding.

CLAIM CHILD ON ROAD

Wong and Horn both stated the child had run across the road, after emerging from a ditch on the east side of the street. A witness this morning, Robert Dunlop bore out this statement. Dunlop would not estimate the car's speed, but said it was "breaking the speed limit." The speed limit at that spot is 15 miles per hour, in a playground zone.

Flemming May Get Cabinet Post

FREDERICTON (CP) — Premier Fleming indicated in a radio speech Saturday that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had offered him a federal cabinet post and that he may take up the offer sometime in the future.

The New Brunswick premier said he intended to remain as premier until the province achieved "a vitally improved position."

Mr. Fleming declined to say what portfolio had been offered him.

Canadian Cost-Of-Living Dips For Fifth Successive Month

OTTAWA (CP) — Living costs continued to decline during March for the fifth month in a row — reducing the consumer price index by one-tenth of a point to 125.4 on April 1 from 125.5 on March 1. This five-month decline was the first in six years.

As in some of the previous months, lower food prices, provided the main pull-down force, offsetting rises in other parts of the consumer index, the bureau costs eased.

All told, the cost-of-living yardstick declined by nine-tenths of a point during the five months. It was the first such protracted drop since December 1952—May 1953 when the index declined by 1.4 points.

Wages and employment appeared to be rising while living costs eased.

NEWS ROUNDUP

VERNON (Special) — Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson adjourned the Konkin bomb conspiracy trial here this morning until 2:30 p.m. because one of the jurors "was unavoidably detained." Police later said the man, as yet unidentified, was picked up in Kelowna this morning on an intoxication charge. The juror was en route to Vernon from Penitentiary for this morning's session.

A YOUNG Westbank resident was treated in hospital over the weekend for injuries sustained when he was dragged by the horse he was riding. From meagre reports, it is believed Victor McDougall's foot got caught in the stirrup and he was dragged along the ground. He is recovering at his home.

CASH TALLING $155, as well as a quantity of cigarettes and small confections were stolen from the Boyd drive-in theatre's snack bar some time early Saturday morning, it was learned today. Police are investigating the break-in and theft.

TRAIL (CP) — This city of 14,000 today marked its 1,600th successive day without a traffic fatality—the best record in the province for cities over 10,000 population. The last highway death here occurred Dec. 15, 1954.

HALIFAX (CP) — Two Labrador men have returned to their Knob Lake homes after surviving a forced landing on Munaheek Lake, 30 miles from where they took off earlier today on a 130-mile flight. The men were identified by RCAF Search and Rescue here as pilot Charlie Clifton and a passenger identified only as a Mr. Fisher.

OTTAWA (CP) — The transport department moved today to make flying safer and to remove some of the "hush-hush" from air accidents. The bid to cut down on the 10-a-week rate of civilian flying accidents in Canada began with the opening of a 12-day course in accident investigation, attended by 12 civil aviation inspectors forming a new safety squad.

SETS SAIL TODAY FOR ROMANTIC PORTS

Kelownian Skips 60-Foot Craft To South Seas

By JOAN PRITCHARD

A man well-known in Kelowna, where for several years he was part owner of "Nip and Alf's Service Station" at KLO Road and Pandosy Street, begins an adventure today that will cause pangs of envy to burn in the breasts of many of his friends, Stuart "Nipper" Riddell will skipper his 60-foot ketch, "Romayne", out of San Francisco harbour, bound for the south seas!

Riddell left Kelowna to join the RCAF. After two years in the service he shed his blue uniform to head for the north country and purchase a sheep ranch at Deadman's Creek, near Kamloops. For three years he kept 80 head of sheep on his 160 acre ranch, but he resented the isolation imposed by northern farm life and in the spring of 1958 came to Vancouver. In Vancouver he found Romayne and wanted her immediately. By May of 1958 he had sold his sheep ranch and purchased his ship.

Why would a landlubber like Riddell, who had never shipped on anything larger than an outboard runabout before he boarded Romayne, want to skipper a big ketch on an ocean voyage? Put it down to a certain restlessness, if you like, a desire to see more of the world. Skipper Riddell will not deny that these reasons are good ones. But a good part of the persuasion came from Romayne herself.

Built in 1928 in Kell, Germany, by the Krupp Steel Works, Romayne was designed for the German Crown Prince. Her length at the water line is 53 feet, her beam 14 feet and she draws 8 feet. Her displacement is thirty-six tons, her all-steel hull is flush-riveted and welded, her mainmast towers 60 feet above hardwood decks. Romayne was originally gaff rigged, but now is Marconi rigged and carries about 1800 square feet of working canvas. Skipper Riddell reports that she has logged 8½ knots under favorable conditions. For times when wind conditions are not so favorable, she has a Scottish-built Albion 4-cylinder diesel engine, marine counterpart of the engine that powers English buses. There is a propane range in her galley and a fresh-water tanks hold 250 gallons of water.

At sea, however, most cooking is done by pressure cooker, using salt water, for which there is a pump in the galley. Now the ship is stocked with canned goods and dehydrated foods enough to last a year. Amongst the most important items aboard are modern foods which would have amazed mariners of earlier days. Instant coffee, instant orange juice, dehydrated soups and powdered skim milk which can be mixed with fresh water to provide sweet milk for drinking and cooking at sea.

Comfortably fitted and handsomely finished, Romayne boasts a roomy saloon with upholstered leather seats along its perimeter and walls paneled with French polished mahogany. Although the ship will accommodate nine people, Riddell's crew consists of five, three of them cousins of his, four of them Canadians . . . Ann Cowan of Vancouver, a registered nurse, Caroline and Michael Kinlock of Darfield, B.C., Hans Rainer, also of Darfield, and George Miller of San Francisco.

Already Romayne has given evidence of her ability to stand up to the elements. Three days out of Vancouver in July of last year, enroute to San Francisco, she encountered winds of approximately forty miles per hour and twenty-foot waves. Under very reduced canvas she still made seven knots. These conditions continued for forty-eight hours until all aboard were wet and slick and tired. Then the sky cleared and the wind vanished altogether. After lying becalmed for a day, Romayne made her way under power into San Francisco, arriving at the harbour light ship in southerly fog and circling the lights for six hours before passing under the Golden Gate bridge.

MAST SNAPPED A second brush with the elements came twenty-four hours out of San Francisco on a cruise to Tahiti. At seven in the morning a rigging failure caused the mainmast to snap off, and all hands tumbled on deck in a hurry to cut lines and standing rigging. Once again, Romayne powered into San Francisco and there she stayed for the winter. Now, with new masts, her gaff rig changed to Marconi rig and a rested and revitalized crew, she is once more headed for south sea adventuring.

Leaving San Francisco, skipper Riddell will point Romayne's prow in the direction of Mazatlan on the West coast of Mexico. From Mazatlan, Romayne will strike directly across the open Pacific to Nuka Ilva, port of entry for French Oceania, then through the Tuamotu Archipelago to Tahiti and the Leeward Islands.

And after that? Skipper-owner Riddell is not sure. "We'll do some charter work amongst the islands, perhaps, and yes, we may continue on around the world. That depends on a lot of things . . . money, crew . . . whether we really want to get married and settle down, not on land, however, but on a ship half the size of Romayne, that two persons could handle without outside assistance. Of one thing he is very certain, though. Says Stuart Riddell, one time garage owner, air-force man, sheep-rancher: "I prefer life at sea to any of my previous occupations."

Ketch "Romayne", gaff-rigged, as she left Vancouver, bound for San Francisco and points south.

Local Employers Challenged By Probation Officer

Today in the letters to the editor column in this newspaper there appears a letter from the district probation officer asking that employers in this area give some serious consideration to certain youths who, through various circumstances, have started out life on the wrong foot. The letter pointed out that it is to the distinct advantage of the community, and hence to every one of us, to try to redirect the youthful energies of these young men into more socially desirable channels.

There are few people who would say these young offenders should not be given a chance to redeem themselves, to win a respected place in society. Many a young man through some youthful escapade has been in trouble with the law but has outgrown it and gone on to become a respectable and respected citizen.

There are some, undoubtedly, who will wonder why boys, who have broken the law and generally behaved in an irresponsible manner, should be given any extra consideration or help in finding employment. The answer is not difficult: few people will refuse a little extra consideration for a handicapped person and many juvenile delinquents can be considered handicapped by their life's experiences and because of this require extra assistance in establishing themselves.

The national employment service has recognized the need for extra assistance to handicapped persons by setting up a special placement branch within the employment service. Many of these placements involve men and women with physical disabilities. The probation officer's charges, however, have emotional handicaps that are equally disabling but not as readily recognized or appreciated as, say, a withered arm or a missing limb. To many a swaggering bully, the world is a hostile, unfriendly place. Is this attitude not a handicap? Is a fatherless boy full of insecurity and doubts about himself not handicapped? Surely.

It would seem the probation officer has issued a challenge to the employers of this area, to anyone who may have a job open now or in the future. The challenge is simple. Juvenile delinquency is not really a major problem in Kelowna, but, nevertheless, there are some who have succeeded in getting themselves involved with the law. Fundamentally, these youngsters are our problem, we who live in Kelowna. The probation officer is looking for jobs for a carefully screened number of these youngsters, those the authorities believe could have an excellent chance of becoming good citizens—if a little help is given them. That help primarily is a job, a chance to earn a living, a chance for each of these lads to realize the world is not all against him. Further, the parolling of some of these youngsters depends upon a job being available for them on their release from the institution.

Are there any employers in Kelowna or the district kind enough, civic-minded enough, human enough to accept the challenge of the probation officer to give one of these youngsters a chance by giving him a job? If so, the probation officer would be most happy to hear from every one of them. It's a chance for Kelowna to keep its own house in order and to build good citizens of youngsters who could become bad citizens. Will we accept the challenge?

Just Blame The Weatherman

There is a saying that "coming events cast their shadows before", but there are few of us who stop to realize that most of today's difficulties and today's conditions are the result of things that happened years ago.

There are, of course, innumerable examples. Many Okanagan fruit growers, for instance, are still suffering from that bad freeze seven or eight years ago. Some just now are seeing their orchards coming into full production following the ravages of that winter.

That same winter is also now affecting us in another and little appreciated manner. The price of shoes, all shoes, is going up as a result of that winter—principally.

In that winter cattle-ranching areas in the United States suffered injuries to herds in catastrophic proportions. Thousands of head of cattle froze or starved to death. Since that time, an intensive herd-building program has been carried out and many animals which normally would have gone to slaughter have been kept in the herds.

During the past year, there has been an abundant of rainfall on the range lands which produced sufficient additional pasture to feed tens of thousands of cattle more than in the previous ten years. This increased the large herd rebuilding program and has been a decided factor in the recent shortage of hides and resultant rise in side leather prices.

The hide and skin market is a by-product of the dairy and meat-packing industries and the consumer himself has played a part in bringing conditions which now cause him pain when he buys a pair of shoes. Our increased standard of living is reflected in our greater consumption of beef which in turn has made it more profitable for the farmer to sell his stock as yearlings rather than as calves. The result has been a somewhat astounding drop in the calf slaughter figures both in Canada and the United States. The supply does not meet the demand and, naturally, prices have risen.

An additional factor, of course, is the shoe manufacturers have to meet labor increases and additional costs of all other materials, linings, trimmings, ornaments etc.

These things added together make for one thing—higher prices for footwear. And there is no indication that the trend will not continue for some time. But when you grumble about paying that extra two or three dollars for your new pair of shoes, don't blame the manufacturer too much. Just remember the primary villain was to raw cold winter which played havoc with the cattle raiser as well as with the fruit grower. It all started then.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

STUDENT WITH IDEALS

Editor,
Daily Courier.

Dear Sir:

A few words of appreciation and thanks are due the writer, "A Senior High School Student", of a recent letter in your paper, for very intelligent remarks on the subject of school dress. This letter shows a student with ideals and a philosophy of life, regardless of the efforts of some parents, I would appreciate the opportunity of speaking to this student, and receiving intelligent views on our young people's problems, which we as parents must have, if we are to help them at this time, when our understanding is so required.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

The Editor,
Daily Courier.

Dear Sir:

It is said that every community has as much juvenile delinquency as it deserves. Thanks to Kelowna's progressive city council, its excellent school system and energetic citizenry, the juvenile delinquency problem here is by no means severe. However, there is little room for complacency.

There is today in Kelowna a sizeable number of our youth who, through various circumstances, have started out in life on the wrong foot. It is to the distinct advantage of all of us to try to redirect their youthful energies into more socially desirable channels. I feel sure that many people in Kelowna share the belief that a community should handle its own problems. The difficulty is that most people are unaware of those who are in need of help and are therefore powerless to assist. The number one problem for which I require help is that of finding jobs for the lads that come under my direction. I appeal particularly to garage operators, trades, machine shops, wood anywhere else where there is a working shop, cattle ranches or possibility of a youth being taught to earn a livelihood. Are there any logging contractors who would offer me a job for two young men, both close to 20 who are eager to work? Is there a restaurateur who will help me place a Kelowna lad who cannot be paroled from goal until a suitable job is found for him? Is there a radio or electrical appliance repair shop who would take a lad who has shown a flair for this type of work? I earnestly request that any citizen in Kelowna or district who feels that he can help contact me by letter sent in care of the Court House, Kelowna, or by leaving a telephone message for me at the Government Agent's office, Kelowna Court House—P.O. 2-2665.

Yours very truly,
D. GUEST,
Probation Officer.

REPORT FROM THE U.K.

Major Price Reduction To Reduce Unsold Coal Stocks

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special to The Daily Courier

LONDON—In a desperate effort to dispose of a large part of its mounting stock of unsold coal, the National Coal Board is cutting the price of coal to the consumers by one pound ($2.70) a ton, effective May 1.

This is the date on which the summer prices for coal normally come into effect but the reduction which is being made this year is the most substantial on record. It is about double the rate of the summer reduction of last year. Coal consumers will be encouraged to stock up with coal during the summer to enable the board to cut down its stocks.

The decision to make this drastic reduction was reached by the coal board after a series of consultations with the Coal Merchants Federation, which represents more than 15,000 coal dealers.

STOCKS GOING UP

Meanwhile, coal production is going on at a high level. Production for the first full week of April was 4,363,000 tons, an increase of 1,300,000 tons over the previous Easter holiday week.

The output for this year, so far, is about 3,000,000 tons less than the corresponding period of 1958. In the same period, however, the consumption of coal has dropped by 4,500,000 tons so that the undistributed stocks held by the board are increasing steadily.

Sir James Bowman, chairman of the National Coal Board, admits quite frankly that the drastic reduction of one pound a ton in the summer price reflects the anxiety of the ministry of power over the increasing stocks, and is designed to speed up the movement of coal to consumers during the summer.

PLEA REJECTED

In the face of this, the National Coal Board has rejected a plea by the National Miners' Union to make further reductions in the amount of coal produced by what is known as open-cast mining. This is coal which comes from surface deposits, produced entirely by mechanical means. The board had previously agreed to reduce this type of production by 5,000,000 tons.

The miners' union, faced with the closure of some 30 deep pits because of uneconomic production, appealed to the board to cut down even more on the open cast operations to keep more miners in employment. But since the open cast production is much more profitable to the board than pit production, this request has been rejected.

PITS CLOSING

The closing of pits is, nevertheless, going on steadily in the coal mining areas, and particularly in Scotland. The unemployment situation among the miners, however, has been ameliorated somewhat by the transfer of thousands of them from the closed-down pits to other pits which are producing at a reasonable profit.

ster brought rejection for the plans for a secondary school. At a recent meeting of the Conservative Education Committee, fears were expressed that Socialist-controlled municipal bodies might try to inject their party's educational policy into the system. The Conservative MP's protested that Socialist councils should not be allowed to "get away" with their doctrinaire approach to education.

The minister's decision is regarded as a clear-cut warning to other local authorities controlled by the Socialists.

Education Minister Balks At School Idea

By M. McINTYRE HOOD
Special to The Daily Courier

LONDON—Mr. Geoffrey Lloyd, Minister of Education, is not going to allow Socialist-controlled municipal councils to implement the Socialist party's educational program while a Conservative government is in office. That is what lies behind his refusal to allow the Darlington, Yorkshire, Education Committee to build what is known as a comprehensive school to accommodate 1,200 pupils.

Socialist educational policy is aimed at the elimination of what are known as grammar schools, and their replacement by the comprehensive schools. The government is completely opposed to this policy. So when the Darlington Education Committee, backed by its Socialist-controlled council submitted plans for a comprehensive school to enter to some 1,200 pupils of secondary school age, the Minister of Education rejected the plans, and told the House of Commons his reasons for their rejection. He agreed to what was the original proposal—the building of secondary modern school for 600 children.

WOULD BAR CHILDREN

Crux of the matter was that the educational authority proposed to bar from the two local grammar schools pupils from the area to be served by the proposed comprehensive school.

According to Mr. Lloyd, this meant that parents in the district would not be able to send their children to one or other of the two grammar schools if they reached the necessary standard. He said that in his view there could be no good reason for such a restriction on parents' freedom of choice. He was opposed to any restrictions imposed "simply in order that a new comprehensive school may enjoy a monopoly of the able children within its area."

Mr. Lloyd has found able backing in Darlington from Councillor John Stokoe, a retired headmaster and leader of the opposition to the comprehensive school.

Mr. Stokoe said: "It was the only decision the minister could take. Now we can get on with the real work of upgrading secondary in modern schools. I am not against comprehensive schools in sparsely-populated areas, but they would be no improvement for Darlington."

CONSERVATIVES APPROVE

Conservative party members approve very strongly the minister's attitude, which for the first time since he became mini-

MPs Not Paid For Expenses

By PATRICK MCNEILSON

OTTAWA—A large mail from readers suggests considerable sympathy for some aspects of the way of life of our parliamentarians, as recently described in this column.

It appears to be widely recognized that the most outstanding of our MPs represent us in a considerable financial sacrifice by themselves. We would not want them to continue to pay this price; nor would we want the most able and promising public men to be discouraged from serving us by the dollars and cents sacrifice which that would inflict on their own wives and children.

This column explained that the unavoidable extra cost incurred by an MP having to attend parliamentary sessions in Ottawa ranges from about $2,500 to $4,500 a year in most cases. In addition, his constituency expenses range from $750 to $4,000 a year. Thus his out-of-pocket expenses run between $3,250 and $8,500 a year. Against this, he is paid an expense allowance of only $2,000 a year.

It is in the interests of the country that politics should attract and keep men and women who are leaders in their communities and callings. If such people try to maintain their families by continuing to pursue their calling on the side, they very often do a good job neither at that nor at politics.

MORE ELSEWHERE

Such people in the service of Canada are underpaid at the present scale of $8,000 a year plus $2,000 expense allowance. The criticism has been heard that sometimes men are elected as MPs who are not worth more; more often it would be fair to say that men are reluctant to be candidates when they can earn more elsewhere without the attendant disadvantages.

A happy balance at present price levels might be struck by a salary of $10,000 plus an expense allowance of $4,000 a year. This would be realistic, and might be regarded as neither so high that it would attract the unworthy for the money alone, nor so low that it frightened away the good candidate.

The greatest criticism of the political life is the damage it does to the MP's home life. To analyse the position of an average MP, consider for example Liberal Hubert Badanal from Fort William and CCFer Douglas Fisher from Port Arthur. Their central Canada homes at the Lakehead are separated from Ottawa by a distance which strikes a mean between the three hour car drive home of Pembroke's Jim Forgie and the four-day train trip home of Nanaimo's Bus Matthews.

The Lakehead burgesses can travel home from Ottawa by train, using their parliamentary pass. But the journey costs a minimum of $8 for an upper berth, and the 1,000 mile journey takes 25 hours. That rules out a weekend at home. Alternatively, the MP can fly to the Lakehead in four hours but at his own expense, which is a staggering $105 round trip. How lucky are the local Jim Forgies who can drive home each Friday evening and return here on Monday morning! Does the distant MP leave his wife and children at home, and live a miserable bachelor life in Ottawa for six months each year? Or does he bring his family to Ottawa, and face the problem of a house and, if the children are of school age, what to do between September and January when father would normally be at home?

Very few house-owners want to rent a furnished home to an MP for just six months in the year, yet the MP has little chance of arranging a sublet while he is home in his constituency.

Members of the army and other forces have married quarters provided at cost or less on certain postings. Perhaps that idea would be applicable to MPs with a large centrally-located apartment development, containing a choice of everything from bachelor suites to four-bedroom apartments, being financed on a non-profit-making basis for parliamentarians by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Segregation In Junior High School Urged

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia School Trustees Association and a former school teacher have recommended to the Chant royal commission studying B.C.'s education system that boys should be segregated from girls in junior high schools.

In separate briefs to the commission here both said segregation was for the boy's own good. Girls dominate boys at this level, the trustees said. Physically, socially and emotionally they are infinitely more mature insofar as it hinders the development of masculinity in the boys.

Hartley Dent, 30, former school teacher and now student at Anglican Theological College here, said boys after 13 or older daydream about girls and spend much of their time looking at them.

FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT FOR MANITOBA

After three years of study, a five-man royal commission has recommended three major projects, at an estimated $73.3 million cost, for control of flooding on Red and Assiniboine rivers in Manitoba. Biggest job would be construction of 32-mile floodway designed to carry any Red River overflow around the city of Winnipeg and dump it back into river north of city. Dam at Portage La Prairie would divert any flood crest on Assiniboine into Lake Manitoba through 20-mile channel. Third project (left) would be dam south of Russell, which would create a 50-mile reservoir (shaded area) on Assiniboine. (CP newsmap).

CALLERS'LL NEED BLOOD WHEN THEY'RE THROUGH TELEPHONING

Every person between 18 and 65 with a telephone at home will be contacted early this week as Kelowna goes all out to capture the Okanagan's blood donor honors. Phoning will be done by the members of the Junior Red Cross.

Clinic will be held Tuesday (tomorrow), Wednesday and Thursday from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the United Church Hall. The evening clinic has been extended a half hour this year.

Kelowna's objective is 1,500 points. Those needing transportation (free) to the clinic are asked to call PO 2-3311.

Busy Month Begins For Kelowna's Sea Cadets

The month of May promises to be a busy one for the Kelowna Sea Cadets.

The "rush" began several days ago, in preparing for yesterday's church parade in observance of the Battle of the Atlantic Sunday. Members of the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps "Grenville" will be writing examinations for promotions today.

This Wednesday the corps will parade for the official, hand-drawn ceremonies of the ferry Pendozi. Premier Bennett will turn the ferry over to Mayor Parkin.

The highway department agreed to give the Pendozi to the city sometime ago for the nominal sum of $1. The ferry has been stripped of most of the usable equipment, including the engines.

MORE PARADES

Cadet parades will be held each Monday and Thursday at the Armory and the Pendozi in preparation for the annual inspection May 20, when Capt. C.F. Laws of the staff of flag officers of the Pacific Coast will inspect the corps. The inspection will be aboard the Pendozi.

Then on May 24, the cadets will go to Kamloops for the annual Okanagan - Mainline sea cadet sports day, with the Hudson Bay trophy, held the past two years by Kelowna, at stake.

PHILIPPINES-BOUND next July will be Troop Leader Jim Gray (above) of First Rutland Scout Troop. He has been accepted as one of contingent of 90 Canadian Scouts who will attend tenth World Scout Jamboree at Makiling National Park.

Gingell Chairman Oyama Irrigation

OYAMA—Annual general meeting of the Oyama Irrigation District elected Mr. K. Gingell as chairman. The financial report showed the districts affairs to be on a sound basis.

The system report was read and discussed and election of trustees followed. Mr. K. Gingell, and Mr. H. D. Butterworth were re-elected for a three-year term. Mr. L. Gatzke, was elected for one year in place of Mr. F. Neitsch, who had resigned on selling his property.

Other members of the board are: Mr. W. Allen, Mr. W. Witzke and Mr. J. L. Butterworth, secretary-manager.

Blood Donor Clinic For Oyama Friday

OYAMA—A Red Cross blood donor clinic for Oyama, Winfield and Okanagan Centre residents between ages of 18 and 65 will be held at the Winfield Community Hall Friday, May 8, from 1:30 to 4 in the afternoon and from 7:30 to 9 in the evening. All Oyama residents are urged to donate.

LAST YEAR DISASTROUS

Permits Now For Fires Anywhere In Province

British Columbia's forest fire season opened May 1 and provincial forestry officials said they hope it won't be anything like the disastrous 1958 season when millions of feet of timber went up in smoke at a loss estimated at about $30,000,000.

The 1958 fire-fighting costs totalled close to $5,000,000 and the provincial government has been unsuccessful in getting the federal government to pay part of the cost.

A provincial forestry official said that from now on, permits will be needed by individuals and industry to light fires anywhere in the province. "It may be unseasonably cool right now," he said, "but don't forget hot, dry days are on the way."

"Everyone should consider himself part of the fire protection service to protect the woods and keep them green," he said. The forestry service will have a helicopter on contract for four months this summer for fire-protection work throughout the province. In addition there will be wider use of water bombing methods of fighting fires from the air this year, and extra pumps and other equipment will be available.

Under a new act passed at the last session of the legislature, men and equipment from industry may be recruited in an emergency to fight fires anywhere in the province.

Army Headquarters Release Vernon Camp Officers List

A partial list of officers to staff the Cadet Training Camp during the summer has been released by Headquarters, B. C. Area.

Command of the camp slated to run from July 6 to August 24 will be split between Brig. J.W. Bishop, B.C. area commander, and Lt. Col. W.G.A. Lambe, assistant adjutant and quartermaster general at Army Headquarters, Vancouver. This has been found necessary due to other commitments during the summer for Brigadier Bishop.

Further appointments include: Maj. J. T. Grierson as camp administration officer; Cap. J. M. Bowie, assistant to Major Grierson; Capt. (Nursing Sister) B.C. Nicholson on staff of the camp hospital; Capt. J. A. Richards, camp electrical and mechanical engineer; Maj. C.V. Lilley as commanding officer of the training wing and camp second in command, assisted by Cap. D.T. Walton; Capt. R. A. L. Forbes, training wing administration officer; Captains S.A.: Brown and Charles Baker as company commanders and Capt. Donald Thompson as second in command of the signal wing.

Close to 800 cadets from British Columbia and Alberta are expected to attend the camp and receive training in senior leaders, senior leaders instructors, driver mechanics and signalling.

Kaleden Youth Tops Pentiction's Rodeo

PENTICTON (CP)—A 17-year-old Kaleden youth won top honors Sunday in a rodeo sponsored by the Pentiction Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Bob Sabrick won over 13 other competitors in a test for young drivers at the Pentiction high school.

Second place went to 18-year-old Herb Allan of Pentiction and Fred Lye, also from Pentiction, was third.

Sabrick will compete in the provincial final at Vancouver.

PIANIST DISCOVERS IT'S SMALL WORLD

VERNON (Special)—A rare experience at the Okanagan Valley Music Festival was that of Bly Ritchie, Naramata pianist.

Awarded 84 marks for her test pianoforte solo, "Gavotte and Bourree," by Gladys Davenport, she was told by Noel Cox, British adjudicator:

"You have had the honor of performing in front of the composer."

Bly Ritchie did not know that Miss Davenport, now Mrs. Goertz of Osoyoos, had moved recently to the Okanagan from Australia. The composition was written in England.

Glenn Ford Will Be "Happier Now" Says Wife, Sueing For Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—"I am sure Glenn will be much happier alone. He isn't happy now."

So says Eleanor Powell, explaining why she sued Glenn Ford for divorce Friday. Her 16-year marriage to the Canadian-born movie boxoffice king had been considered one of Hollywood's happiest. Her reasons for the split:

"I sued on grounds of extreme mental cruelty and that's exactly what I mean."

"My marriage wouldn't have lasted this long except for my religion and my feeling that I should keep the marriage together."

"CANNOT GO ON"

"We did have trouble (a few years ago), but I determined to keep my marriage intact. I have tried very hard, but it just isn't any use—we cannot go on. I have been unhappy for a long time and this is no sudden thing."

Ford, born in Portneuf, Que., declined comment.

The former dancer's suit asked custody of the couple's 14-year-old son, Peter Newton Ford, and listed the actor's mother, Mrs. Hannah L. Ford of Beverly Hills, as a co-defendant. The action alleges the mother-in-law received certain funds and properties which belong in the couple's community property.

After their marriage in 1943, Miss Powell virtually retired from show business. She has been active in church work and her husband in the Boy Scouts and Beverly Hills civic affairs. He is 43, she is 46. She teaches Sunday school in a local Presbyterian church.

Rutland May Day Slated For 29th

RUTLAND—Graduation day at high school here will be on May 29, with the PTA as usual in charge of refreshments.

This was made known at the regular meeting of the Rutland parent-teacher group held recently.

The banquet is scheduled for 6 p.m. under the auspices of the local Women's Institute.

Topic for discussion at the meeting was the promotional policy at Rutland High with that school's principal, Charles Bruce, leading the discussion. The 50 people in attendance felt the discussion had been "very enlightening."

Later, winners of the Band Association's "sell a second" contest were announced.

Kaz Hayashi was the winner of a portable ice box, with Mrs. R. Henderson of Winfield receiving a torch lamp. Mrs. Harold Thompson of Oyama was awarded a camera with a record player going to Jim Sallenbach.

After the business meeting, Doug Mervyn showed films taken on a recent world tour.

Refreshments concluded the meeting, and it was decided to stage the next gathering May 20.

H. W. Horridge (CCF—Kootenay West) tossed the first bouquet in the Commons by noting that this was the first time the institute has received a federal grant and adding that the institute have done more work with less money than any other group for the benefit of Canada.

He related one anecdote of the pioneering work of one institute in his constituency in the British Columbia interior, involving midwifery by telephone.

The institute, he said, had arranged that one knowledgeable member give advice to an expectant father over the telephone that resulted in the safe delivery of the man's wife in a remote area. "Canada," added, is alive and "I hope voting for me today."

IN ORBIT

By DOROTHY GELLATLY

"Field of the Cloth of Gold" ... I've a hazy recollection of my English history classes and of a battlefield that became known by that name—what era, or even under what king I've forgotten now. But, literally, the "field of the cloth of gold" is what I'm reminded of each year when the sunflowers bloom in the Okanagan.

And this year was no exception. As I drove up the valley last week I wanted to stop and feast my eyes on the golden drift that extended mile after mile after mile. And making the hillsides even more lovely was the fragile daintiness of the snow-white saskatoons dotted here, there and everywhere, and I thought of the colors in which even this arid country abounds.

Almost before the spring sun melts the snow in the pinewoods the buttercups bloom, and this year I watched the glossy chipmunks frolic cheekily from brushpile to brushpile, scampering across intervening snow-patches to hide from view until I passed ... And there, presently, the low-growing buttercups appeared.

A GOLDEN DRIFT
And soon the clumps of sunflowers—which aren't sunflowers at all, we're told—put forth their buds, and with them comes the saskatoon blossom, followed by the orchard bloom—thanks to irrigation. The white apricot and cherry (even tho' this year the promise will not be fulfilled), the soft pink of the peach, and then the pink-and-white of the apple blossoms, more ephemeral than ever since the application of thinning spray, alas!

The wild rose, by the wayside, and in the woods the deeper shades of Indian paintbrush, the wedgewood blue of the wild clematis and a dozen other shy blooms in varying hues ...

Even midsummer has its own particular shadings; the tawny hills of this land of the dry-belt, the deep blue of the lakes, and later the autumn shades, in orchard and on mountainside. Gold and rust with their in-between hues, the richness of ripening fruit in the orchard, even the gleaming red of tomatoes as the vines cease their growth—all a symphony of color.

True, we have none of the luxuriously lush growth of coast or moist climates, but the Okanagan abounds in color from spring-time to winter, when the conifers are starkly silhouetted against the glistening snow, or are a-glimmer with frost against threatening snow-cloud or the clear blue of a sky that foretells a sudden drop in temperature.

Susan Hayward Wants Out After 20 Years In Films

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I'd like to quit now that I'm ahead," says Susan Hayward, the Oscar-winning actress who finally found, on a farm in Georgia, the happiness that had eluded her in Hollywood.

"But I have commitments for five more pictures under my contract," she said. "It would not be right to get out of them."

"I came here when I was 19 and I've been here 20 years. I've had it."

Patting the underside of her chin, she continued: "I don't want this bit where I have to have the face lifted and the wrinkles painted out in order to play leading ladies. I'd prefer to quit now and go home to Georgia. Then, if I felt like it, come back after a time and play character roles. You know me, I love to act. The heavier the better."

The lady admits to a temper, especially during picture making. "When I don't like how things are going, I simmer," she said. "Then I blow up. I always feel sorry later, but I feel better for it."

But easy southern living and a happy home life have mellowed the redhead. She credits her second husband, Eaton Chalkley, wealthy lawyer and businessman. Chalkley, formerly an FBI agent, fell in love with Carroll, 30 miles from Atlanta, and moved there from Washington.

In 1957, Susan went there as his bride. They have a big house and guest house on 200 acres of rolling pine forest.

Susan had much unhappiness in Hollywood, but she isn't bitter. During her 1944-1954 marriage to actor Jess Barker she zoomed to stardom. He didn't. She became the breadwinner. This led to frequent arguments.

During the most celebrated of these, he tossed her nude into the family swimming pool. Then followed a sensational divorce trial. Susan got custody of their 14-year-old twin sons and $1,293,319 in assets; Barker the family station wagon.

Later, after a quarrel, Susan attempted suicide by taking an overdose of sleeping pills.

Susan was a mixed-up girl off screen, but about this time she met Chalkley and a big and happy change took place.

DAILY COURIER HOUSE OF THE WEEK

Distinctive, but practical are the words to describe this lovely home of 1350 square feet. It features the always popular living dining L, well planned kitchen with large eating nook at the end for family snacks. The master bedroom in addition to the plumbing "en suite" shows a "walk-in" closet which could be panelled in cedar. This house has a frontage of only 53' which would make it fit nicely on a 65' lot if side yard allowances are 10 per cent. There is an open stairwell in the main hall, with the stairs leading down to a full basement in which is shown a future activities room, laundry, furnace, etc.

ACID-ETCHED MARBLE SILL

QUESTION: I have marble window sills below aluminum windows. In cleaning the windows I used an all-purpose acid cleaner which spotted the window sill. When wet, the sill looks fine; dry the spots show up again. What can I do?

ANSWER: Rinse marble surface with clear water; then cover stained area with white blotting paper moistened with ammonia and hydrogen peroxide, covering with a piece of glass or plastic to retard evaporation. After several hours, remove poultice and sand with very fine sandpaper, then polish with putty powder. Suggest you send 10 cents to Marble Institute of America, 32 South Fifth Avenue, Mount Vernon, N.Y., for copy of booklet on "Care of Marble".

REMOVING METAL TILE

QUESTION: What is the best way to remove metal wall tile, so that it can be replaced with ceramic tile?

ANSWER: Special adhesives used for applying metal tile, requiring special solvents. Consult manufacturer, or tile dealer, for particular solvent recommended. Use solvent to soften adhesive, then pry loose.

FIREPLACE CONSTRUCTION

QUESTION: Where could we get exacting enough information (with all safety factors pointed out) to build a conventional indoor fireplace?

ANSWER: National Fire Protection Association, 60 Batter-march St., Boston, 10, Mass., publish a leaflet, priced at 50 cents of standards in construction of chimneys and flues (No. 211). This contains the detailed information you require. A more general leaflet is that published by Superintendent of Documents, Washington, 25, D.C., "Fireplaces and Chimneys," priced at 20 cents (no stamps).

STEAKY PLASTIC TILE

QUESTION: Removed some streaks of paint from the plastic tile in our bathroom with paint remover. Now those spots look dull and streaky. Is there any way to bring back the original luster?

ANSWER: Rub the damaged spots with powdered pumice and a damp felt pad. When the streaks are removed, polish the surface with powdered chalk and a damp soft cloth. This method is also effective with scratches.

LADY BUG INVASION
QUESTION: Last year a horde of lady bugs invaded a cottage we have in the woods. They were all over the sills. Neighbors had the same problem. I know they are supposed to be beneficial, but it was just too much of a good thing. If we are overrun again next year, what can we do?

ANSWER: I recommend getting in touch with the National Pest Control Association, 250 West Jersey St., Elizabeth, N.J.

REMOVING FLOOR SHELLAC
QUESTION: Our hardwood floors are finished with shellac. How can I remove the shellac? I want to refinish the floors?

ANSWER: The shellac can be removed by wiping with denatured alcohol. Or it can be sanded off with an electric sander.

FORMULA FOR BLOCKS

QUESTION: Can you supply me with the formula for making patio blocks? I am interested in learning what materials are required, and where they can be purchased? Also, what colors are suitable.

ANSWER: Write to the Portland Cement Association, 735 North Water St., Milwaukee, for information: they have complete instructions available for all kinds of cement projects around the home. They can also supply sources for materials required. Color is a matter of individual preference but depends on the colors available for cement.

Window Boxes Of Fir Plywood Dress Up Home

Window boxes can lend brilliant dashes of color to an otherwise drab house with a very modest outlay of time and energy.

Made of waterproof-glued fir plywood, the window box shown here is simply a shallow box with a false front which can be scaled to create a more decorative effect.

Sides, back and bottom are cut from a panel of half-inch fir plywood. The dimensions given are very general, and the length is best determined by measurement of the actual window under which the box will be placed.

The main point is to refrain from making the box too large or deep. When filled with plants, a large box is difficult to lift down for replanting, etc.

Half a dozen drainage holes, about one-half-inch in diameter, are drilled in the bottom of the box and covered with broken pottery before the box is filled with earth.

Nails and glue fasten the pieces together, and it is then finished to complement the color scheme of the house. Inexpensive angle-iron brackets to hold it in place under the window may be bought at a hardware store.

Senator Says Luce Uproar Tightens Vote

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas says the uproar over Clare Boothe Luce's nomination is likely to sharpen the Senate's investigation of other diplomatic appointees.

Agreeing, Republican Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois, said he thinks Democrats may make President Eisenhower's selection of Ogden Reid Jr. as ambassador to Israel the first example of this sharpened scrutiny.

The trouble began when Senator Wayne Morse (Dem. Ore.) questioned Mrs. Luce's qualifications, accusing her of "intemperance" in her campaigning and failure in her former job as ambassador to Italy.

RELATED TO PUBLICATIONS
Mrs. Luce is wife of the editor-in-chief of Time, Life and Fortune who said Morse was simply trying to wage an indirect war against Time magazine through his wife.

Reid is the former editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

Fulbright, who heads the Senate foreign relations committee, said the nomination of Reid, submitted March 10, will come up before his committee the week of May 11. He said other members of his committee have grave doubts about Reid's professional qualifications.

But Dirksen said the Israeli government regards Reid as well qualified.

The Senate confirmed Mrs. Luce's nomination by a 79-to-11 vote Tuesday, but the fight broke out anew when Senator Morse rose on the floor to read a statement from Mrs. Luce accusing him of being unbalanced by a kick in the head from a horse.

CALLED GOOD EXAMPLE

He replied this proved her lack of diplomacy and she herself had been under the care of a psychiatrist.

The Senate took the matter up again Wednesday when Dirksen criticized Senator Morse for having mentioned a psychiatrist. He quoted Dr. Milton Rosenbluth of New York as saying Mrs. Luce had not received psychiatric treatment.

Senator John A. Carroll (Dem. Colo.) said that "if we continue along with this debate, not only the whole country but also Latin America will think we are all nuts," and the Senate dropped the matter.

Brazil's Foreign Minister Francisco Negro de Lima said Wednesday his government is pleased that the Senate had confirmed the appointment.

Break Develops In Normal Peace Between CLC-Gov't

By JOHN LeBLANC
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — A sharp break has developed in the normally peaceful relations between the federal government and the 1,000,000-member Canadian Labor Congress.

Indications are that a storm will blow up in the Commons next week over Labor Minister Starr's appointment of Alastair F. MacArthur of Toronto as labor representative on the three-member unemployment insurance commission.

In unprecedented moves, congress President Claude Jodoin and Mr. Starr clubbed each other over the appointment. Liberal Leader Pearson and CCF House Leader Hazen Argue sided with the labor chief.

The 48-year-old Mr. MacArthur, Canadian head of the Office Employees' International Union, was named by the government as the labor member of the commission despite CLC recommendations of three others for the $15,000-a-year job.

SAYS POLITICS INTERFERED
Mr. Jodoin charged political implications were involved. The minister denied this and claimed

Claim Aircraft Workers Forced To Sell Homes

TORONTO (CP) — The Globe and Mail says 8,000 of the 14,000 aircraft workers thrown out of work in February when the Arrow program was discontinued have run out of money and an estimated half of them will have to give up their homes.

The report says most of the homes will have to be sold below market value.

Of the original 14,000 employed on the Arrow program by Avro Aircraft Limited and Orenda Engines Limited, 2,500 were rehired shortly after the Feb. 20 dismissals following the federal government's decision to discontinue work on the Arrow. The Globe and Mail says another 3,000 have found other permanent or temporary jobs.

the congress chief had been trying to dictate the appointee to a key post on the commission that runs unemployment insurance and the national employment service.

The CLC announced its three nominees on the nine-member UIC advisory committee are quitting.

Mr. MacArthur said he has never been a member of the Progressive Conservative party, as Mr. Jodoin claimed the minister had told him.

Mr. Pearson called the appointment "shocking" and bungling. Mr. Argue termed the circumstances of Mr. MacArthur's appointment "regrettable."

It appeared fairly certain Mr. Argue or some member of his party will bring the scrap up in the Commons next week, when a general labor debate is due.

32 Whooping Cranes Heading Northward

WASHINGTON (AP) — All 32 whooping cranes which wintered at the Aransas Tex. national wildlife refuge apparently are enroute on their long northward flight.

Reporting, the U.S. fish and wildlife service said aerial surveys indicate the first 11 started the migration to the Northwest Territories before April 3 and the others left in small groups at irregular intervals.

The 32 whoopers totalled six more than began the northbound trip last year. They included the nine young—a record for any one recent year—that came south last fall.

In addition there are six whoop-ers in captivity, so the total count stood at 38 during the winter. The previous high since an annual census was started 20 years ago was 34 in the winter of 1949-50.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

By ESTRELLITA

FOR TOMORROW

Even though this day's influences would seem to activate efforts along profit-seeking lines, set yourself a smart program so that you don't risk mistakes through carelessness. Avoid all speculation!

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, during the coming year, you should find many ways of effecting economies in time and effort; also of rendering better job service—which will eventually prove highly profitable. Your innate stability should be of great help in keeping you from going off on tangents when matters seem to progress slowly. You can make genuine strides in your career, but they will not be of the dramatic type. Thus, the importance of "keeping your feet on the ground." October should be an exceptionally good month, job-wise.

Personal relationships will be under generous aspects for most of the year, with emphasis on romance and marriage. Look for an opportunity to travel in early July; some small, but good, financial breaks in late September and in late December.

A child born on this day will have stability of great help in keeping you from going off on tangents when matters

Opening lead—jack of hearts. Appearances can be deceiving. Take this hand where an optimistic six spade contract was reached. It was played in a New England tournament many years ago. The hand looks impossible to make. It seems certain that declarer will have to lose a spade and a club, especially when it is noted that the diamond break unfavorably. But South made the contract and, what's more, the opponents could do nothing about it.

Declarer was Frank K. Perkins, of Boston, who has been playing bridge and writing about it with equal facility for many a year. Undaunted by the outlook, and playing his most inspired game, Perkins cashed four aces and four kings to produce this position:

West was given his trump trick. East discarded the useless queen of hearts. Declarer now had to make the rest of the tricks.

West, on lead, had to return a heart, giving declarer a ruff and discard. Perkins played the nine of clubs from dummy. East had to choose between discarding a diamond or a club.

There was no satisfactory solution for East. He discarded the seven of diamonds, declarer would ruff the heart lead, cash the queen of diamonds, and dummy would take the remaining tricks.

And if East, instead, chose to discard the ten of clubs, Perkins would trump the heart lead and then ruff the five of clubs in dummy, thus establishing the eight of diamonds would provide the entry to the South hand to cash the eight.

Never give up!

Injectons Aid Persons Sensitive To Bee Stings

By Herman N. Bundesen, M. D.

No one likes to get stung by a bee. But to some unfortunate person a bee sting is more than an annoyance. It is a real danger to their health, and, in some cases, even to their lives.

HIGHLY SENSITIVE

These persons are highly sensitive to the sting of a bee. Since bees are a universal summer-time menace, such persons will probably benefit from desensitization injections. If carried out properly, this ordinarily is a very satisfactory prophylactic procedure.

In case you are one who suffers considerably from a bee sting, I suggest you see your doctor about these injections right now. Usually, whole bee extract is used for the desensitization procedure. A preliminary skin test is necessary to determine how sensitive you are to the bee extract.

The original injection will be diluted, making it somewhat below the reaction strength indicated by the preliminary test.

Generally, doses ranging from .05 to .25 ml. are given at intervals of from two to four days. This, of course, means fairly frequent trips to your doctor's office, but the results, I believe, will be worth it.

Once the proper maintenance dosage, generally .25 ml., has been reached, the frequency of injections is gradually diminished until the patient receives one injection every three or four months.

These maintenance doses should be continued as long as there is danger of exposure to the bee stings. For most persons this will provide adequate protection from extreme reactions from bee stings. Naturally, it won't guarantee that they won't be stung at all. That is pretty much up to the bee.

SOME ADVICE

I'd like to add a few words of advice for those of you who are not especially sensitive to bee stings, but at the same time want to know what to do in case you are stung this summer.

Remember that the honey bee is the only bee whose sting is at all poisonous to most of us. The honey bee leaves its stinger in the wound, and it must be removed before the wound can heal.

Ordinarily, about all you have to do to end the discomfort of a bee sting is to apply a wet pack of baking soda.

F. M. A.: Is there any help for a burning tongue? Would dentures have anything to do with this condition?

Answer: A burning tongue can be due to many causes and dentures might contribute to this. Better see a physician or dentist.

Espionage Agents Escape To West

BONN (Reuters) — Two East German espionage officials have deserted to West Germany, bringing detailed information of subversive activities in West Germany.

The West German news agency DPA, quoting reliable sources in Bonn, identified the deserters Friday as Capt. Helmut Hofer, 36, and Lieut. Walter Glass, 28. DPA said Hofer had told West German authorities his group's main task was to discredit high officers of the West German Army.

Usually reliable sources said Hofer arrived in West Germany in April, 1952, and Glass six months earlier, but news of their flight was kept secret until now.

Smart Dog Survives Smart 'Coon

OWASSO, Okla. (AP) — Little Richard, the spirited hound dog freed from a rocky tomb six days after being lured there by a smart 'coon, today is under the care of Dr. John Collins, a veterinarian in nearby Tulsa. Collins said he expects the dog can be released "in a few days, at most."

The hound was freed after his owner, Larry Wilson and 200 volunteers chipped away at limestone and stubborn granite.

Dynamite charges and jackhammers were used to widen the crevice inch by inch. An air hammer removed the last boulder, and Little Richard crawled feebly into his master's arms, whining affectionately.

Collins said the 2½-year-old hound has "every chance in the world to pull through," barring complications. He lost 10 pounds of his 60.

Did the 'coon lure Little Richard into the fissure?

"Yes," Wilson said.

"I think that coon knew exactly where he was going when he ran from Little Richard. They're smart. They have a good idea where they are taking a dog. It's all part of their manoeuvres. That coon probably got away from a lot of dogs there."

Crowd Jams Arena Seats For Pro Wrestling Card

The Orchard City uncovered a new sports facet Saturday night. A jammed arena of 2,500 fans showed wild enthusiasm at the top-line card of professional wrestling, jeering, hooting, cheering and thundering their applause for the fast and spicy two-hours of entertainment.

The local Jay Cees, Vancouver wrestling promoter Cliff Parker and the wrestlers themselves were all delighted with the reception given the card, and the Jay Cees promptly booked another card for June 6, with the wrestlers to be arranged for.

NOVEL EXPERIENCE

Lorelei Turgosse, 17-year-old brunette beauty, had a novel experience as she was hoisted up by the photogenic "Atomic Blondes" for her first publicity picture in her 1959 campaign for Lady-of-the-Lake.

Chet Wallick, senior member of the Blondes, beat John Foti of Hamilton, Ont., in the first singles bout of the evening, playing the "villain" role to the full, and drawing the hisses and boos of the capacity crowd before he made his move and pinned the "hero" in a neat reverse flip that had Foti stopped cold.

Chico Garcia, 37-year-old member of the Blondes, pinned "The King of the Cariboo," Felix Kohnke of Williams Lake, with a surf-board hold, in the second singles bout.

Cyclones Blowing Hot, Take Salmon Arm 12-1

The Cyclones, Kelowna's SOK'M, blew a big breeze up in Salmon Arm yesterday as they walloped the Shuswap nine 12-1 in a regular league fixture, fixing their record at 3-0 for the season so far.

Dale Armenau led the Cye's, striking out six, giving up four hits, and setting up a double play. Armenau - Kiebisli - Robertson. Never in trouble after the early minutes of the game when the northerners got their only run, Armenau was backed up well by crisp fielding and two-error ball.

LED HIT PARADE

Right fielder Eddie Schn led the Cyclones' hit parade, smacking a single and two doubles in five times at bat. Rich Hartwick picked up three singles, and Ed Kiebisli two; Ed Clark and

SOFTBALL, LITTLE LEAGUE CURTAIN RAISERS RAINED

This morning's "soaker" drowned out the opening of the men's city softball league, and the Little League, both slated for tonight.

The softball game, between defending champion Club 13 and Rutland Rovers, will be played at a pick-up date, and the Blue Caps and Centennials will open the season Wednesday, weather permitting.

In Little League, the Lions vs. Legion game has been postponed, and the opening will take place Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday, weather governing.

Aaron's Slugging Pummels Giants

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pittsburgh	8	9	.471	2 1/2
Philadelphia	8	10	.444	3
St. Louis	5	15	.250	7

This may be the year in which Henry Aaron establishes himself as one of baseball's greatest right-handed hitters.

If this sounds like it's going overboard, ask San Francisco Giants.

All the Milwaukee mauler did Sunday against the Giants was hit a single and two home runs.

He scored three runs and drove in another with a sacrifice fly as the Braves won 9-4 to regain first place in the National League by half a game over the Giants.

Aaron now is batting an even .500 with 36 hits in 72 times at bat.

He is tied with teammate Eddie Mathews for the league's home run leadership with eight; he leads in hits, is third in runs scored with 18, tied for third with eight doubles, and tied for fifth with 20 runs batted in. His slugging percentage is an incredible .972.

Cincinnati and Los Angeles were in a virtual tie with the Giants for second place following the split of their doubleheader.

The Reds won the first game 6-3 then lost 7-1.

Chicago maintained its .500 level, driving a pair with Philadelphia. The Cubs won the opener 4-3, Phillies the nightcap 5-4. Pittsburgh defeated St. Louis 4-3 in the first game of their twin bill.

The Cardinals were leading 2-1 in the sixth inning of the second game, halted by Pennsylvania's 7 p.m. curfew law. The game will be resumed June 2.
